This Office action is in response to Applicants' remarks received March 22, 2010.

As an initial matter, a good faith effort was made to contact Applicants' representative to discuss the issues presented in the instant action; however, the effort was not successful.

Applicants' arguments have been fully considered and are deemed to be persuasive to overcome some of the rejections previously applied. Rejections and/or objections not reiterated from previous Office actions are hereby withdrawn.

Claims 16-20 are withdrawn. Claims 1-15 are currently under examination.

Priority: The request for priority to GERMANY 102 41 681.8, filed September 9, 2002, is acknowledged. An english translation of the german application was filed August 2, 2009.

Objections and Rejections

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-2, 4-5, 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Claims 1-2, 4-5, 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because it refers to a protein only by function.

The court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit has recently held that such a general definition does not meet the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph. "A written description of an invention involving chemical genus, like a description of a chemical species, requires a precise definition, such as be structure, formula {or} chemical name, of the claimed subject matter sufficient to distinguish it from other materials." University of California v. Eli Lilly and Co., 1997 U.S. App. LEXIS 18221, at *23, quoting Fiers v. Revel, 25 USPQ2d 1601, 1606 (Fed. Cir. 1993). The court held that "in claims involving chemical materials, generic formulae usually indicate with specificity what generic claims encompass. One skilled in the art can distinguish such a formula fro others and can identify many of the species that the claims encompass. Accordingly, such a formula is normally an adequate description of the claimed genus. In claims to genetic material, however, a generic statement such as "vertebrate insulin cDNA" or "mammalian insulin cDNA," without more, is not an adequate written description of the genus because it does not distinguish it from others. One skilled in the art therefore cannot, as one can do with a fully described genus visualize the identity of the members of the genus".

Here, Applicants are claiming a product by what it does (i.e. has a reversible, anisotropic contractability) rather than by what it is (i.e. in terms of structure). Appropriate correction is requested.

In their remarks, Applicants assert that Claim 1 has now been amended to include one of the sequences listed in claim 3 but not all of the sequences. Applicant believes that the inclusion of one of the sequences should be sufficient in order to provide distinguishing structure.

Paragraphs 0015 and 0017 of the specification as well as, for example, original claims 8 and 10 ("...comprising at least one of the sequences...") provide support. Reconsideration and withdrawal of the rejection of the claims 1-2, 4-5, 7, under 35 USC 112 (1st paragraph) are respectfully requested. Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Response: Applicants' amendment is not sufficient to overcome the 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, rejection. Since it is unclear which protein (i.e. protein 1 or protein 2) instant SEQ ID NO: 2 is found in, it is believed that more structural information needs to be provided in claim 1. It is again suggested that the limitation of claim 3 be incorporated into claim 1 so that there is more structural information provided for the forisome that is recited in claim 1.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. This is a new matter rejection.

Claim 4 recites 1 m to approximately 40 m and 1 m to approximately 10 m. The specification appears to have support for 1 μ m to approximately 40 μ m and 1 μ m to approximately 10 μ m. Therefore, this is a new matter rejection.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 8-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 8, 10, 12, and their dependent claims are drawn to a "protein of the protein crystalloid body." It is not clear whether SEQ ID NO: 1 and/or SEQ ID NO: 2 and/or SEQ ID NOS: 3-5 are in protein 1 and/or protein 2; therefore, there is not enough structural information to distinguish between the first protein or the second protein since their molecular weights also overlap.

Claims 1-15 appear to be free of art.

No claim is allowed.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37

CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
